Multiple Non-Compensable Service-Connected Disabilities (38 CFR 3.324)

Title 38 CFR 3.324 provides the rules for providing compensation even when the disabilities may not be of a compensable degree, meaning that they receive a 0% rating. Zero percent evaluations establish entitlement to ancillary benefits that may apply.

Table 1: Identifying Eligibility to 38 CFR 3.324 Compensation

Element	Description
Criteria	“Whenever a Veteran is suffering from two or more separate permanent service-connected disabilities of such character as clearly to interfere with normal employment, even though none of the disabilities may be of compensable degree...the rating agency is authorized to apply a 10% rating, but not in combination with any other rating.” The claimant is entitled to a compensable 10% rating when: • He or she has two or more non-compensable 0% service-connected disabilities • One or more of the disabilities interferes with employment
Process	1. Identify the number of 0% ratings. 2. If two or more are present, review all relevant evidence in order to: a. Establish or deny service-connection b. Evaluate severity of the disabilities c. Determine additional inferred issues and/or ancillary benefits 3. Incorporate decision into a VBMS-R decision.
